De 328 fotografier, hvis arbejde i udvalg er præsenteret i projektets samlinger, spænder over 191 års fotografihistorie. Siden midten af forrige århundrede har fotografiet udviklet sig i hvert fald i to hovedretninger: én gren afbilder samtidshistorien og samtidens samvittighed, og sætter samtidens sociale, økonomiske eller politiske udvikling til debat. En anden gren afbilder lys, liv, form og figur, som rækker langt udover konteksten og samtiden, og udvikler dermed fotografiet til en særlig kunstart helt på linje med maleri, tegning, arkitektur og grafisk design.

Denne udvikling blev først beskrevet i bogen "Mirrors and Windows - American Photography Since 1960" af John Szarkowski (1925-2007). Han var kurator ved New Yorks Museum of Modern Art fra 1962 til 1991.

Den næsten overvældende store mængde af fotografiske materiale i projektets samling gør det muligt - sammen med det omfattende bibliotek af referenceværker - at skabe et overblik over fotografiets udvikling, at sammenligne fotografier fra forskellige perioder og følge den enkelte fotografs personlige udvikling ud fra den fotografiske realitet, hun eller han har levet i. Som eksempel kan anføres, at fotografen Annie Leibovitz i sin selvbiografi "Annie Leibovitz at Work," som findes i hendes mappe, refererer til flere bøger, der har haft indflydelse på hendes udvikling som fotograf. Disse bøger findes i referencebiblioteket sammen med mange andre hovedværker, og dermed kan man gå direkte i Annie Leibovitz' fodspor.

Med sådanne muligheder for at krydsreferere fotografierne og deres værker opstår der et nyt forståelsesniveau, som man ikke når på museernes anekdotiske, episodiske og undertiden rhapsodiske præsentationer af fotografers kunst
